The Shipyard Launching Pegasus

Job Specs

Weight: 2,950 Tons

Dimensions:
286'L x 62'W x 92'H

Equipment Used:

96 axle lines of SPMTs,
5 power packs &
loading ramps

When it comes to moving colossal shipyard projects, Berard is there with the expertise, the best equipment and the dedication to get the job done. This was the case once again as the team transported the Pegasus, a massive offshore supply vessel. The project was a three-step process with the vessel being transported from its fabrication site to the bulkhead in the first phase. In the second phase, the vessel was loaded onto a deck barge. The deck barge was then moved to the dry dock where it was secured and ballasted to begin the final phase of transferring. The team slowly moved the vessel onto the dry dock and into final position for launching. The client was very pleased with Berard's performance and we're proud of our team members for making this another great project!

On The Road The Skid Transport

Job Specs

Weights:

105,000 Lbs

Dimensions:

40' L x 24' W x 13' H

Equipment Used:

6-axle Goldhofer Semi Trailer

Berard recently transported this 24' wide skid from Lafayette, LA to the Port of Iberia, where it was then loaded onto a barge and barged to Ingleside, TX. Despite construction along the route, Berard was able to work with the construction company to permit the wide load on schedule.

Jacob Vollmer

Project Engineer | CAD Specialist

In February of 2014, Jacob Vollmer joined the Berard team and hit the ground running. He is a professional engineer and CAD specialist and is great at what he does everyday at Berard. He is a graduate of UL Lafayette in Civil Engineering.

When asked about working at Berard and his job in general, he says "I enjoy working here. Each project is unique and presents different challenges. There is always something new to learn, and I use that knowledge to make sure our work is both safe and efficient."

When not doing his thing at Berard, Jacob likes to cook and is interested in history, aviation, and technology.

He is married and he and his wife, Jenna, have a one-year old daughter, Lucia.
