Berard was chosen once again by our great client to load out this offshore deck and jacket package. The team had previously offloaded this same package last year for refurbishment and further outfitting. Now ready to head back to work, the Berard team loaded the jacket first then the deck a few weeks later using 36 axle lines of SPMTs. The team also had an important visitor attend the load out. Scott Angelle, Director of the Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement in Washington, D.C. was amazed at not only the massive load out, but Berard's team members at work. It was great to see a new project headed to the Gulf of Mexico in these trying economic times. Kudos to everyone involved in making this project another great one!

The Berard team headed to Catoosa, Oklahoma to offload a series of vessels. The project began with the team receiving the vessels at the Care Terminal near Houston, Texas and trans-loading from ship to deck barge. The cargo was then barged to the Port of Catoosa where the team went to work offloading the cargo with the two longest vessels first and finally the three shorter ones. Once offloaded, the trip to the client's facility included city streets and a few tight turns. The SPMT and turntable configuration made this much more manageable. All vessels were delivered without incident or injuries. A testament to Berard's commitment to safety on every job.
